

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK with a mental health problem has increased by 50% (Mental Health Act 1983, 1990).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with mental health problems. The Department of Health (1999) has set out a vision for the future of mental health care in the UK. This vision is based on the principles of recovery, self-help, and community care. The vision is to ensure that people with mental health problems are able to live full and meaningful lives, and that they are able to contribute to society. The vision is to ensure that people with mental health problems are able to access the services they need, and that they are able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
